Us And World News	NBC 10 Philadelphia - National & International News	The Girlfriend Of An Oakland Warehouse Fire Victim Experienced A "Facebook Miracle" In A Time Of Crippling Grief When Hundreds Of Social Media Users Helped Her Track Down A Special Year-old Photograph Of The Two Of Them.Saya Tomioka's Boyfriend Griffin Madden, 23, Was Among 36 People Who Perished In A Fire At The Ghost Ship Warehouse Friday. Amid Her Mourning For The Loss, She Turned To Social Media In An Attempt To Find The Person Who Captured A Photo Of The Couple During A Trip To New York City Last June. Oakland Fire Victims: Music Therapist, Attorney, Teacher And More It Had Been Tomioka's First Time In Times Square, She Recalled In A Facebook Post Published Sunday. Tomioka And Madden Were Mid-embrace When A Photographer Captured The Moment.[[405058745, C]] How

To Contribute To Oakland Warehouse Fire Relief & I've Always Longed To Find This Particular Photograph And Thank The Photographer," She Wrote In The Post. "Friends, Possibly With Your Help, I Can Be Reunited With This Photograph, This Treasured Memory That I'll Always Keep In My Heart." Tomioka Acknowledged That Finding It Would Be Akin To A "Facebook Miracle," But Wrote It Would Be Something To Lift Her Spirits. Oakland Warehouse In Deadly Fire Had 'Terribly Designed Staircase': Visitor After Being Shared More Than 300 Times, The Post Made Its Way To Arken Avan, A Professional Photographer Who Is Known For Taking Pictures Of Couples In New York's Bustling City Center. After A Quick Search Through His Photo Collection, Avan Zeroed In On The Now Famous Photo And Send It To Tomioka. "Two People Shared That Post With Me Yesterday, My NYPD Friend I Know From Times Square, And Some Of My Friends," Avan Told NBC Bay Area, On How He Heard About The Photo Search. "[405484255, C] He Told Tomioka He Remembered That Exact Moment. "I Actually Remember This Moment — Young Lady Was Holding Pretzel In Her Hand And Young Man Had Lipstick On His Cheek," He Wrote In A Message To Her. "What A Beautiful And Adorable Couple I Thought At That Moment. I'm Sorry For Your Loss And Hope You Will Keep These Pictures For Memory, Forever." He Says Also Plans To Share The Photo On His @NewYorkFaces Instagram, In Honor Of Madden. Tomioka Has Since Taken To Facebook Again, Describing The Agony Of Learning About The Devastating Fire And Having To Wait For Days Until Crews Recovered Madden's Body And Identified Him. "I Thought That I'd Feel Better When The Waiting Ended, But Instead, I Felt Dissatisfied. I Felt Like I Hadn't Found You—yet," She Wrote. "[405488545, C] But Avan's Photo Helped Bring A "glimpse Of Your Light Back Into My Life," Tomioka Said. "With The Infinite Help From Our Families, Friends, And Strangers, I Finally Found You." Avan's Photograph Came At The End Of A June 2015 Evening That Included Madden And Tomioka Laughing Hysterically Over "The Book Of Mormon" And Haggling Over A Pretzel. After Finding The Photo, Tomioka Said She "sobbed" And "immediately Laughed Uncontrollably." She Continued: "Life Is So Strange. I've Lost You, But I've Never Felt Stronger In My Life. Through Our Many Years Of Love And Growth, I Learned How To Be Strong From You." NBC Bay Area's Rhea Mahubani Contributed To This Report. A Danville Teen Who Made An App Allowing Users To Quickly Send Allergy Information To Health Care Providers Won A Congressional Contest Earlier This Week. Jasmine Steele, A Student At San Ramon Valley High School, Beat Out Other Contestants From The Bay Area For The 2016 Congressional App Challenge, A Contest That Is Aimed At Encouraging Young People To Learn How To Code. 36 Dead In Ghost Ship Fire; Recovery Efforts Resume "I Really Am Proud To Have Won," The 16-year-old Jasmine Said. "I Guess I Made The App Because I Thought It Was A Good Thing To Do." Jasmine Created Her App, Allergy Blast, Over The Course Of The Past Year, Hoping That It May Help Children, Seniors Or People With Special Needs Share Critical Health And Allergy Information. Jasmine Suffers From A Severe Nut Allergy. How To Help Oakland Fire Victims "Whenever I Would Be Under Someone Else's Care, My Mom Would Type Off This Long List Of Allergy Information," She Explained. "It Worked, But It Was A Big Hassle. So, Instead Of Making A Paper That They Have To Print Out, They Can Just Create A Profile Once, Save It And Resend It Anytime." In A Phone Interview With NBC Bay Area, Congressman Mark DeSaulnier Said He Was Proud Of Jasmine And Called The App "life Saving." He Recalled A Time When His Ex-wife Had A Severe Allergic Reaction To Bees And Said Allergy Blast Could Be An Important Resource In Similarly Dire Situations. Four Arrested After Burglars Ram Car Into Apple Store "It's Just A Wonderful Combination Of Using A Technology For A Practical Application That I Could Really Relate To," He Said. DeSaulnier Added That He Found Jasmine To Be An "amazing" Student Who Is "very Composed," Both Compliments Echoed By Her Computer Science Teacher, Janet Muirragui. "She's Very Mature, Conscientious," Muirragui Said. "She's Very Talented. Her Grades Are Excellent — She Has The Highest Grade She Can Get." When Jasmine Isn't Studying For The SATs Or In One Of Her AP Classes, She Enjoys Drawing And Creating Art. Her Mother, Julie Steele, Said That Jasmine Is Attracted To Projects That Combine The Humanities And STEM. "She Started Playing Around With Drawing Software Early On," Steele Said. "She Really Figured Out That She Loved It, And That's The Direction That She Wants To Continue Heading Down." Jasmine, Who Would Like To Attend MIT Or UC Berkeley, Is Used To Being One Of The Few Girls In STEM Classes And Is Trying To Encourage More Young Girls

To Get Into The Field. According To The Census Bureau, Women Comprise 48 Percent Of The Workforce, Yet Women Hold Only 24 Percent Of The STEM Positions. Other Organizations Have Found The Figure To Be Much Lower."It Creates This Atmosphere Where, Since There Are So Many More Boys Than Girls, Boys Are Much More Vocal And Seem More Confident In Their Abilities," Jasmine Said. "And, On The Flip Side, Girls Seem Less Willing To Show Off Their Work, Even Though Their Input Is Super Valuable." Her Mother Has Noticed Her Daughter's Commitment To Closing The Gender Gap Strengthen Since Enrolling In Programs Like Pixar's Girls Who Code And Seeing Other Successful Women In The Tech Industry." "She Really Wants To Be A Part Of That Movement," Steele Said. Currently, Jasmine Is Working On A Web Comic About A Tech-savvy Female Superhero Who Inspires Young Girls To Code." "I Feel Like It's Really Important For Us Not Only To Get More Girls Into STEM, But Also To Help Them Feel Like They Are Welcome There And That They Really Can Succeed In That Area," She Said Of Her Inspiration For The Comic. "And, Also Show That It's Not Just Boring Nerd Work. You Can Create Vibrant Worlds Using Technology." Gillian Edevane Covers Contra Costa County For NBC Bay Area. Amidst Nationwide Polls Showing A Decline In Public Trust, Police Departments In The East Bay Are Finding New, And Sometimes Unique, Ways To Try And Connect With Their Communities. Perhaps One Of The More Trendy Ideas Comes From The Pleasanton Police Department, Where A Series Of Trading Cards Featuring The Images Of Its Officers Will Be Made Available To The City's Youth. Mandatory Evacuations Ordered For Loma Fire The 41 Collectible Cards Will Be Handed Out At Kid-friendly Events Sponsored By The Department. In Keeping With The Theme Of Targeting Younger Residents, All Card Giveaways Will Be Announced Via The Department's Social Media Accounts, According To Shannon Revel-Whitaker, A Crime Prevention Officer. The Department Tried Using Trading Cards As A Way To Familiarize Youth And Police In The Early Aughts, But This Is The First Time They've Incorporated A Collection Game, She Said. Another Busy Wildfire Season By The Numbers It Came About Because Another Officer Here, A School Resource Officer, Suggested The Idea As We Sat Down To Talk About Furthering Engagement, She Said. When All The Cards Have Been Collected, Kids Can Enter For A Chance To Ride Along With An Officer During The Hometown Holiday Parade, Among Other Prizes. Collector's Game Boards, Which Resemble Posters And Show Pictures Of All 41 Cards, Can Be Picked Up At The Front Desk Of The Department Office. Tractor Trailer Fire On Richmond-San Rafael Bridge In Other Parts Of The East Bay, Programs That Are Designed To Diminish Adversarial Relationships Between Police And Community Members Have Become Routine. Typically, Each Program Is Geared Towards Placing Officers In An Approachable Environment: Pittsburg Has Its Upcoming Chips And Dip With A Cop Event On Sept. 29; Martinez Hosts Sit-downs With Police Over Coffee, And In Richmond, Officers Swapped Their Uniforms For Chef's Aprons During A Barbecue And Voter Drive Earlier This Month. Pittsburg Police Captain Ron Raman Noted That These Events Remove The High-stress Contexts In Which Police And Community Members Usually Come Together. If

You're Going To A Domestic Violence Call Or A Violent Call, You're Not Going To Be Able To Have The Same Interaction You Can When You're In An Environment Like Chips With A Cop," He Said. "It Changes The Officer's Focus, And It Changes The Focus Of The People Who Are There." While These Types Of Programs May Not Be New, More Recent Installments Do Come At A Significant Juncture: The Bay Area Is Still Grappling From A Sexual Exploitation Scandal That Rocked Several Police Departments, And Debates Over Officers' Use Of Force Has Sparked Numerous Protests Around The Country. Research Has Also Shown Levels Of Waning Trust: A Nationwide Gallup Poll Found That Confidence In Law Enforcement Is The Lowest It Has Been In 22 Years. Public Information Officers From Both The Pittsburgh And Pleasanton Police Departments Were Quick To Point Out That Their Community Programs Were Not Designed In Response To Scandals Or Nationwide Events. Instead, Both Said They Were Hopeful That These New Programs Would Strengthen Already Existing Ties Within The Community. "Whether Or Not Police Are In The Media And Are Shown In A Positive Or Negative Light, We Are Always Looking For Opportunities To Connect With Our Community," Revel-Whitaker Said. The Olympics May Be Over, But The Competition Is Just Beginning For 15-year-old Competitive Tap Dancer Kaia Koehler. Koehler Will Be Traveling To Germany In December To Compete At The IDO Tap World Championships, A Prestigious Competition Featuring Dancers From Across The Globe. It's Known As "Tap Olympics" Among Professional Dancers. Sexual Abuse Victims, Whistleblower Sue Stanford Health Care Practicing For Hours A Day At Her Lafayette Home And The Concord Studio Where She Trains, The Teen Has Been Gearing Up For The Meet For The Past Two Years. "It's A Rigorous Schedule, Especially For A High School Sophomore, But Koehler Said It's Her "Life's Ambition And Passion" To Compete.

She's One Of Only Three Girls In Her Age Group Selected To Compete For The United States And The Only One Hailing From The West Coast. Construction Workers Demand Better Wages From Developer Like Many Professional Dancers, Koehler Started Young. At The Age Of 3, Her Parents Noticed That She Was Always On The Go, Dancing From Room To Room. Enrolling Her In Formal Dance Training Seemed Like An Obvious Step. She Started With Ballet, But Soon Fell In Love With The Rhythmic And Fast-paced Features Of Tap. Fast Forward 12 Years, And That Love Has Blossomed Into A Rare Talent. New Stanford Podcast Sifts Through Polls, Predicts President & "I Do All Different Styles Of Dance & Contemporary, Lyrical, Jazz, Ballet & But Tap Is Definitely My Favorite. I Think I Get To Express Myself The Most While Tap Dancing. It's Just Such A Free Art Form," She Said. Building As A Dancer Also Meant Overcoming Disappointment. In 2015, She Received Top Overall Placement In A Regional Competition But Was Not Accepted To Represent USA At IDO. It Was A Significant Blow, To Be Sure, But She Continued To Train With Instructor Jonathan Mercer And Never Gave Up. This Year, She Qualified With Ease And Will Compete Against More Than 80 Others As A Junior Female Soloist. She Tries Not To Let The Pressure Get To Her, Instead Using Dance As A Mechanism To Unwind. When She Taps, She's Clearly In Her Element. Her Face Lights Up As She Lets The Movement Of Her Feet And The Sounds Of Her Shoes Do The Work. But That Doesn't Mean The Importance Of This Competition Is Lost On Her. "This Event Is Really A Life's Pursuit For Me. I Feel Lucky," She Said. "It Gives Me Such An Opportunity To Dance With So Many Incredible People From Around The World. I Couldn't Be More Excited." Mercer, Who Has Been Training Koehler In Tap And Ballet For The Past Several Years, Has Noticed His Student's Skillset Develop. "It's Been A Lot Of Work. It's Been A Lot Of Training," He Said With A Laugh. For Him, Watching Koehler Compete Will Also Be A Professional Milestone. He Said He's Incredibly Proud Of The Effort She's Put Into The Competition And Has Set Up A GoFundMe To Help Cover Traveling Expenses. Koehler Counts Mercer As One Of Her Inspirations, A Category Brimming With Iconic Talent From The 20th Century. "There's A Huge Range Of People Who Inspire Me," She Said. "Just From Seeing Tap Movies, People Who Inspire Me Are Fred Astaire And Gene Kelly, Just Classic People That You Think Of When You Think Of Tap Dancing.”She Paused, And Then Rattled Off A Long List Of People Who Have Stood By Her Side, Including Her Family, Friends And Fellow Dancers.“All The People Who Support Me – I Really Appreciate That. They Inspire Me And I Wouldn’t Be Here Without Them.”Gillian Edevane Covers Contra Costa County For NBC Bay Area. Email Her At Gillian.Edevane@NBCUni.com and Follow Her On Twitter @GillianNBC. Us And World News	NBC Bay Area - National & International News	The Girlfriend Of An Oakland Warehouse Fire Victim Experienced A “Facebook Miracle” In A Time Of Crippling Grief When Hundreds Of Social Media Users Helped Her track Down A Special Year-old Photograph Of The Two Of Them.Saya Tomioka's Boyfriend Griffin Madden, 23, Was Among 36 People Who Perished In A Fire At The Ghost Ship Warehouse Friday. Amid Her Mourning For The Loss, She Turned To Social Media In An Attempt To Find The Person Who Captured A A Photo Of The Couple During A Trip To New York City Last June. Timeline: City Has Been Fighting Warehouse Owners For Years It Had Been Tomioka's First Time In Times Square, She Recalled In A Facebook Post Published Sunday. Tomioka And Madden Were Mid-embrace When A Photographer Captured The Moment.[[405058745, C]] Trans Woman Consults With Authorities After Warehouse Fire “I've Always Longed To Find This Particular Photograph And Thank The Photographer,” She Wrote In The Post. “Friends, Possibly With Your Help, I Can Be Reunited With This Photograph, This Treasured Memory That I'll Always

Keep In My Heart.” Tomioka Acknowledged That Finding It Would Be Akin To A “Facebook Miracle,” But Wrote It Would Be Something To Lift Her Spirits. National Task Force Formed In Wake Of Deadly Warehouse Fire After Being Shared More Than 300 Times, The Post Made Its Way To Arken Avan, A Professional Photographer Who Is Known For Taking Pictures Of Couples In New York's Bustling City Center. After A Quick Search Through His Photo Collection, Avan Zeroed In On The Now Famous Photo And Send It To Tomioka. “Two People Shared That Post With Me Yesterday, My NYPD Friend I Know From Times Square, And Some Of My Friends,” Avan Told NBC Bay Area, On How He Heard About The Photo Search. [[405484255, C]]He Told Tomioka He Remembered That Exact Moment.“I Actually Remember This Moment — Young Lady Was Holding Pretzel In Her Hand And Young Man Had Lipstick On His Cheek,” He Wrote In A Message To Her. "What A Beautiful And Adorable Couple I Thought At That Moment. I'm Sorry For Your Loss And Hope You Will Keep These Pictures For Memory, Forever.”He Says Also Plans To Share The Photo On His @NewYorkFaces Instagram, In Honor Of Madden. Tomioka Has Since Taken To Facebook Again, Describing The Agony Of Learning About The Devastating Fire And Having To Wait For Days Until Crews Recovered Madden's Body And Identified Him. "I Thought That I'd Feel Better When The Waiting Ended, But Instead, I Felt Dissatisfied. I Felt Like I Hadn't Found You--yet," She Wrote. [[405488545, C]]But Avan's Photo Helped Bring A "glimpse Of Your Light Back Into My Life," Tomioka Said. "With The Infinite Help From Our Families, Friends, And Strangers, I Finally Found You." Avan's Photograph Came At The End Of A June 2015 Evening That Included Madden And Tomioka Laughing Hysterically Over "The Book Of Mormon" And Haggling Over A Pretzel. After Finding The Photo, Tomioka Said She "sobbed" And "immediately Laughed Uncontrollably." She Continued: "Life Is So Strange. I've Lost You, But I've Never Felt Stronger In My Life. Through Our Many Years Of Love And Growth, I Learned How To Be Strong From You." NBC Bay Area's Rhea Mahubani Contributed To This Report. News Top Stories	NBC 10 Philadelphia - Top Stories	When Michella Flores Hopped Off The Plane In Oakland, She Thought The Worst Was Over. The Santa Rosa Woman Had Just Escaped The Las Vegas Massacre At A Country Music Festival That Left 58 Dead And Another 500 Wounded ? The Deadliest Mass Shooting In The Country?s History. She Had Survived By Running As Fast As She Could, Taking Shelter In A Nearby Hotel's Conference Room. The Next Morning, With The Sounds Of Gunfire Etched In Her Memory, She Was Desperate To Leave Sin City. Death Toll From Northern California Fires Rises To 42 "After That, I Couldn't Wait To Be Home," Flores, A Flight Attendant, Said. "I Was Obsessed With It. That Was All I Cared About; All I Wanted Was To Be Home With My Family And My Dog."But Her Reprieve Would Be Short-lived. Exactly One Week Later, The Sullivan Street House She Shared With Her Parents Erupted In Flames, Burning To The Ground As A Spate Of Wildfires Wreaked Havoc On The North Bay. Almost Everything Her Family Owned ? Photo Albums, Clothing, Furniture, Irreplaceable Christmas Ornaments ? Was Destroyed In The Blaze. Trump Told Widow Soldier Knew 'What He Signed Up For': Rep. "I Haven't Had A Chance To Sit Down And Process Everything, Really," She Said. "I Don't Think It's Hit Me Yet Because I've Been So Focused On Looking Forward And Doing What Needs To Be Done." Couple's Engagement Rings Survive Fire In Santa Rosa And There Is A Lot That Needs To Be Done In The Coming Weeks, Even Though Her Family Has Moved Out Of The Evacuation Center Where They Were Temporarily Holed Up. Flores And Her Parents, Who Are In Their Seventies, Have Been Sleeping In A Temporary Rental. She Will Need To Look For An Affordable Long-term Place To Stay, Find Daycare For Her Beloved Dog, And Muster Up The Energy To Complete The Seemingly Endless Array Of Documents That Fire Victims Are Required To Fill Out To Receive Assistance. "I've Always Been The Person That Keeps The Priorities In Mind, And Knowing What Needs To Be Done," She Said. "That's Who I Am. Breaking Down Isn't Even An Option Right Now. I Don't Think Of It Because I Know It Just Can't Happen. There's Just Too Much To Do." Her Parents, Who Had Moved To Sullivan Street After Their First Home Was Foreclosed Upon During The Great Recession, Were Renters. They Did Not Have Insurance. "We're Not Going To Be Able To Afford To Stay In The Bay Area," Flores Said, Matter-of-factly. "That's Just The Way It Is. It's Killing My Mother; She's In Love With Sonoma County. Santa Rosa Has Been Our Home For More Than 32 Years. That's Something I Worry About, How This Is All Going To Affect Her." Flores, Who Previously Worked As A Firefighter And A Police Dispatcher, Credits Her Professional History With Helping Her Get Through The Tragedies. Immediately Throwing Herself Into "work Mode," She Even Helped Battle The Flames As They Tore Apart Her House. Her Experience As A First Responder Trained Her To Compartmentalize Rather Than Fall Apart, She Said. She Hasn't Lost Her Dry Sense Of Humor, Either. On The Phone, She Even Manages To Crack A Few Jokes About A Load Of Her Work Uniforms That Were Left In The Washing Machine When The Fire Erupted. "Yeah, They Got Washed, Alright," She Quipped, Letting Out A Small Chuckle. "Throwing Pity Parties Is Simply Not Her Style. It Has Never Been, According To Her Sister, Who Lives In Virginia." "She's Resilient And Amazing, And She's Done Amazing Things With Her Life," Krista Flores Said. "But I Worry About My Sister. She's Just Always Been So Busy. She Doesn't Take Time To Take Care Of Herself, And I'm Afraid For When It All Hits Her." Michella Flores, Who Still Hasn't Taken A Day Off Work Since Her Horrendous October Began In Vegas, Thinks The Realization Of What Happened To Her Will Come Sooner Rather Than Later. She Is Dreading Staying Overnight In A Hotel At The End Of This Month For Work. Once There, She'll Be Alone, With No One Else To Look After. "I'm Imagining That's When It's Going To Hit Me, And I'll Deal With It Then," She Said.

"But I'll Only Be Able To Deal With It For A Moment. The Next Morning I'll Have To Be Perky For The Passengers. I Can't Very Well Sit In The Middle Of The Aisle, Telling Them My Woes. ?Oh My God, I Was Shot At, My House Burned Down?....they Don't Want To Hear That." Instead, She Turns To Her Dog For Comfort, And Her Spirits Have Been Lifted By A Community That Has Rallied Around Her Parents And Provided Support. A GoFundMe Page, Created By Her Sister, Has Been Flooded With Donations And Well Wishes From Across The Country. "The Outpouring Has Been So Great," She Said. "I've Been Amazed By People Who Have Been Donating. I Almost Feel Unworthy, Because Of Everything Happening Elsewhere. You Know, You Look At Puerto Rico And Some People Don't Even Have Clean Water. But I'm Lucky, My Family Is Alive, I'm Alive. Things Could Be Worse." When Asked What Would Be The Best Outcome For Her Family, She Said They Would Like To Stay In Santa

Us And World News	NBC 5 Dallas-Fort Worth - National & International News	The Girlfriend Of An Oakland Warehouse Fire Victim Experienced A "Facebook Miracle" In A Time Of Crippling Grief When Hundreds

Of Social Media Users Helped Her track Down A Special Year-old Photograph Of The Two Of Them. Saya Tomioka's Boyfriend Griffin Madden, 23, Was Among 36 People Who Perished In A Fire At The Ghost Ship Warehouse Friday. Amid Her Mourning For The Loss, She Turned To Social Media In An Attempt To Find The Person Who Captured A Photo Of The Couple During A Trip To New York City Last June. Oakland Fire Victims: Music Therapist, Attorney, Teacher And More It Had Been Tomioka's First Time In Times Square, She Recalled In A Facebook Post Published Sunday. Tomioka And Madden Were Mid-embrace When A Photographer Captured The Moment. "I've Always Longed To Find This Particular Photograph And Thank The Photographer," She Wrote In The Post. "Friends, Possibly With Your Help, I Can Be Reunited With This Photograph, This Treasured Memory That I'll Always Keep In My Heart." How To Contribute To Oakland Warehouse Fire Relief Tomioka Acknowledged That Finding It Would Be Akin To A "Facebook Miracle," But Wrote It Would Be Something To Lift Her Spirits. After Being Shared More Than 300 Times, The Post Made Its Way To Arken Avan, A Professional Photographer Who Is Known For Taking Pictures Of Couples In New York's Bustling City Center. After A Quick Search Through His Photo Collection, Avan Zeroed In On The Now Famous Photo And Send It To Tomioka. Oakland Warehouse In Deadly Fire Had 'Terribly Designed Staircase': Visitor "Two People Shared That Post With Me Yesterday, My NYPD Friend I Know From Times Square, And Some Of My Friends," Avan Told NBC Bay Area, On How He Heard About The Photo Search. He Told Tomioka He Remembered That Exact Moment. "I Actually Remember This Moment — Young Lady Was Holding Pretzel In Her Hand And Young Man Had Lipstick On His Cheek," He Wrote In A Message To Her. "What A Beautiful And Adorable Couple I Thought At That Moment. I'm Sorry For Your Loss And Hope You Will Keep These Pictures For Memory, Forever." He Says Also Plans To Share The Photo On His @NewYorkFaces Instagram, In Honor Of Madden. Tomioka Has Since Taken To Facebook Again, Describing The Agony Of Learning About The Devastating Fire And Having To Wait For Days Until Crews Recovered Madden's Body And Identified Him. "I Thought That I'd Feel Better When The Waiting Ended, But Instead, I Felt Dissatisfied. I Felt Like I Hadn't Found You—yet," She Wrote. But Avan's Photo Helped Bring A "glimpse Of Your Light Back Into My Life," Tomioka Said. "With The Infinite Help From Our Families, Friends,

And Strangers, I Finally Found You."Avan's Photograph Came At The End Of A June 2015 Evening That Included Madden And Tomioka Laughing Hysterically Over "The Book Of Mormon" And Hagglng Over A Pretzel. After Finding The Photo, Tomioka Said She "sobbed" And "immediately Laughed Uncontrollably."She Continued: "Life Is So Strange. I've Lost You, But I've Never Felt Stronger In My Life. Through Our Many Years Of Love And Growth, I Learned How To Be Strong From You."NBC Bay Area's Rhea Mahbubani Contributed To This Report. Gillian Edevane Covers Contra Costa County For NBC Bay Area.
